Whether it is deserved or not we do not know, and he who would attempt to pass snap judgment on the subject is assuredly one who would rush in where most angels fear to tread. The public is confused by a multiplicity of counsel, and there are no fixed stars by which it may guide its course; the only compass, the only star we have in this bewildering war complex today is the word of the President himself. It is a high ideal indeed that the take care of itself. War, the mighty President fixes for business men. He absorbent of our national energy,

There is no "closed sea- head. son" for pressure on him to squeeze out bigger profits, not even war times.

The President's address bristles with sensational things. He says "those who do not respond" to his call wil be "dealt with by opinion and the law-for the law must of course, command these things." This suggests commandeering. It is the nt series of conferences with business men ends in failure. As for the ship-owners, whom the President singles out for rebuke-he declares "they are doing everything that high April the month of showers freight charges can do to make the war a failure"-it is already clearly indicated that the commandeerng of vessels has been determined upon by the government, and may come at any moment. From an observant listener, a conscientious voter and a comparatively silent member, Miss Jeanette Rankin, Representative in Congress from Montana, has emerged into the national imelight as a vigorous and forceful factor in humanitarian legislation. The eyes of the nation have been ipon Miss Rankin. Hers has been a particularly hard position to fill. It ill be harder in the coming days of he Sixty-fifth Congress.

In her close observation of the mahinery of government as it operates through its legislative branch she has apparently reached the conclusion that the interests, that blg business, that labor, that every organized force of any magnitude has its spokesmen in both the upper and lower branches of Congress; and her eefforts will be best applied for the unorganized element-the great cosmopolitan army of workers and the humble mothers and fathers that will furnish the sinew, he spirit, and the love of country hat will win this war.

Making the greatest sacrifice of all flesh and blood-Miss Rankin believes, as expressed in the terms of her latest bill, that the mothers and the dependents of our fighting men should not be forced to civic sacrifice. The Biggest Daily Financial News Feature of the Country's Best Newspapers.

In the financial district it is the ex pectation that the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. McAdoo, will offer another loan to the American people at time within the next four $3,000,000,000. In fact, the impression r conjuncture in the financial district is that the Secretary may deem it ex-pedient to offer the entire amount of the balance of $5,000,000,000 which was authorized by Congress, $2,000,000,000 of which have already been marketed.

There are some interesting conjectures regarding the details of the new loan. Will the Secretary fix the rate at 31-2 per cent? In view of the fact that the liberty loan was over Ocean rates are high, and it would subscribed by more than $1,000,000,000, be abnormal and unnatural if they the surmise is ventured that the Secretary will deem the rate of interest on the new loan of 31-2 per cent sufcient to tempt the investors to acoffering even though it be
